You can use the virtual knobs and switches to control any type of pedal effect you can find in any stompbox. ToneLib Zoom will work with any instrument and any pedal you like to use. ToneLib Zoom: No Jailbreak Required Despite having been available since 2011, ToneLib Zoom had not been released for iPhones until just recently. However, the application is now available without the need for a jailbreak.

That means you will be able to download and use the app without having to deal with the hassle of jailbreaking your iPhone or iPad. The good news is that the app is compatible with all the latest iOS devices. If you own an iPhone 5s, 6s, 6 Plus, 7, 8 Plus or X you should have no issues downloading and using ToneLib Zoom. ToneLib Zoom Download ToneLib Zoom is an application that can be downloaded for free from the App Store. Once you have done that, it will require some sort of connection to the Internet in order to download the software itself. If you are downloading the app using a Wi-Fi connection you can expect to have the download go smoothly. ToneLib Zoom Download (From Apple App Store) Once you have downloaded ToneLib Zoom you will be able to run it. The app runs in a full screen mode which means that you will be able to see the app's main interface only. The app can run in the background if you choose to do that. You can use ToneLib Zoom without opening any other programs or apps on your iPhone. The app comes with a few user interface elements and buttons, so you can access it easily. There is a Save button that will take you back to the last menu or page you were on, a Help button that will bring up a list of the controls the program offers, a Back button that will take you back to the main menu, and a Volume button that will control your volume level. ToneLib Zoom Interface When you launch ToneLib Zoom you will be asked if you want to use the device that came with the software. By using the built in hardware buttons or tapping the screen you will be able to answer this question. After you have answered the question you will be able to control your volume using the Volume button
