Plans for 1997 and 1998 were presented to Congress in July 1996, and the Medicare Managed Care Demonstration seeks to evaluate the impact of three managed care organizations (MCOs) on primary care on Medicare managed care. The study design is to use a nonexperimental pre-post design and implement a pre-test-post-test one-group pretest-post-test design, without a comparison group, to compare the effects of MCO enrollment and benefit selection among elderly, disabled, and low-income elderly people. The study will enroll 20,000 elderly, disabled, and low-income beneficiaries and follow them for 2 years. Statistical analysis will be performed using a generalized linear model. This study will be the first controlled study evaluating the effects of MCO enrollment and benefit selection on primary care utilization.During an interview on ABC's "This Week," Donald Trump said he was considering delaying the tax bill until after the 2018 midterm elections. Trump said, "We're working with Congress, we're working with everybody to try and get it done. But we have to be very careful with that, because we're probably only halfway through the election process. There will be an election, we will have a Republican and a Democrat, and they are going to start blaming you on this." Follow
